Since we operate across multiple business environments and on behalf of clients of very different sizes, our solutions must be individually tailored to the needs of each client company. Typically, these solutions are derived from our key services including risk management, surveillance, electronic security and facilities security.

We have our own Guard Training Academy and University to ensure that our personnel is trained to the highest levels of expertise within their specialist fields and to ensure they perform consistently with the utmost professionalism across all the business environments our clients operate within.

We pride ourselves on our transparency and ethical standards as well as having all necessary certifications, including ISO 9001:2015. We were also honoured to receive independent recognition from both Deloitte and AON recently for our approach to business and to human resources.

It is the combination of our philosophy, expertise and facilities that makes Security Segurança e Serviços so much more than just a security company. However, for us, our greatest asset remains our enviable reputation with our clients.
